

Princeton Friday Night Folk Dancing presents a Greek Macedonian Dance Workshop with

YANNIS KONSTANTINOU

Yannis Konstantinou began dancing in childhood with his family in his parents' villages of Alona and Akrites in the Florina region of Greece. Yannis' knowledge extends beyond that of the Greek Macedonian people indigenous to the area. Since 1990, he has conducted research on the impacts on Florina dances due to the migration of social groups and ethnic minorities to northwest Greece, such as Vlachs, Sarakatsani, and refugees from Thrace and Asia Minor.

Yannis is President and Artistic Director of the "Lygkistes" Cultural Association and a founding member of The Academy of Traditional Folklore Dance and Music in Athens, Greece.

Since 2001, he has been the Director of the student dance association of the Balkan Studies department of the Aristotle University of Thessalonika. In addition to the annual Seminar on Greek Traditional Dance founded in 1986 with his father, Yannis began organizing a Balkan Seminar in Prespes where he and other dance specialists from neighboring Balkan countries present dances, music, and folklore of various geographical areas and Balkan ethnic groups. BEST TRAVELING DIRECTIONS BY CAR:

The Suzanne Patterson Center is located in the heart of downtown Princeton, right behind the former Borough Police Station. There's an ample parking lot adjacent to the Center's entrance.

- From New York City

From NYC via Holland Tunnel, take Interstate 78 West to Interstate 95 South (New Jersey Turnpike). Follow Interstate 95 South 20.5 miles to Exit 9 (New Brunswick). Take Exit 9 and follow signs to US-1 South. Merge onto US-1 South via the ramp to Trenton/Princeton. Travel 16 miles on US-1 South to County Road 571/Washington Road (Penn's Neck circle). Turn right onto Washington Road (toward Princeton). Follow Washington Road 1.7 miles to Nassau Street (Route 27). Turn left onto Nassau Street and continue to the traffic light at Route 206. Then proceed as in * below.

- From New Brunswick / North Jersey

Take Route 27 (Nassau Street) south to its end in the center of Princeton, where it intersects Route 206 at a traffic light. *Cross through the traffic light continuing south onto 206 for only 150 feet or so, and turn into the first driveway, marked "Monument Drive/45 Stockton Street", just past the Battle Monument on your right. Follow the driveway as far as you can and you will be in the Suzanne Patterson Center parking lot.

- From Somerville / North Jersey

Approach Princeton on Route 206 going south. At the center of Princeton, Route 206 makes a 90° right turn at a traffic light. Turn right at the light, go only 150 feet or so, and turn into the first driveway, marked "Monument Drive/45 Stockton Street", just past the Battle Monument on your right. Follow the driveway as far as you can and you will be in the Suzanne Patterson Center parking lot.

- From Philadelphia / South Jersey

BY PUBLIC TRANSPORTATION:

- TRAIN: NJ TRANSIT and Amtrak operate trains along the Northeast Corridor rail line that stop at Princeton Junction. Transfer to a single-car train operated by NJ TRANSIT, known locally as the "Dinky," for the five-minute ride to Princeton Station. The station is located on Alexander Street at the southern end of campus, a half-mile walk or taxi ride from the Suzanne Patterson Center. Walking: put the train station behind you and walk toward the McCarter Theater. Continue up University Place to Nassau Street. Turn left. The street name changes to Stockton Street/Rt 206 South. When you see the large monument across the street, cross Stockton Street and walk down Monument Drive to the Suzanne Patterson Center.
- BUS: NJ TRANSIT and Coach Suburban Transit operate buses that stop at Palmer Square on Nassau Street in Princeton. Palmer Square is about a quarter-mile from the Suzanne Patterson Center. Put the News Kiosk behind you and face the Nassau Presbyterian Church. Turn right on Nassau Street and walk across the intersection of 206S/Stockton Street towards the monument. Turn right at Monument Drive to the Suzanne Patterson Center.
